

Healthcare costs could be rising in 2009 by even more than predicted.

New York State is considering the imposition of a $1.00 per claim tax on all claims of $20.00 or more.

This tax will be levied on not only standard health coverage, but will also include dental, eyeglass, hearing aid and prescription drug coverage.

Think about it! An extra dollar every time a prescription is refilled.

This will cost us $63 million this budget year and another $126 million next year.

While the Obama Administration is pushing for healthcare for all, Governor Paterson wants to make health coverage even more unaffordable for workers and their employers.

$1.00 charge on self-insured coverage.
